From our own vineyard in the Russian River Valley, this wine was made entirely in stainless steel, following the methods and traditions found in Chablis, France. Warm days and cool nights naturally develop good acid, making this an ideal food wine. During fermentation, we split this into two separate lots, each using its own yeast in order to create a variety of flavor aromatics to work with at blending.

Tasting Notes: You'll find flavors of green apple and loquat followed by a citrus finish with balanced acidity.
